

We are required to tell you that you are required to wear a mask as a condition of entering these premises.

We have just done so.

However, we are a Constitutionally Compliant Business, and we cannot presume to know what medical, religious or disability exemption you may have. No law exists to compel any living man or woman or child to wear a mask as a pre-text for participating openly in commerce in this place of public accommodation. Furthermore, we are not medical professionals, so we would be remiss (and ill-advised) to require the use of a medical intervention device where we cannot accept liability for such a demand.
